

ANNUAL REPORT TO THE CHANCELLOR, 2007-2008

DEPARTMENT OF HUMAN DEVELOPMENT AND PSYCHOLOGICAL COUNSELING

ANNUAL REPORT TO THE CHANCELLOR, 2007-2008

I. Major Accomplishments

List and describe briefly the major accomplishments of your department during the past year.

The Department of Human Development and Psychological Counseling has several major accomplishments to report.

1. Retaining Margaret Hardin as Student Services Manager and Diana Barbee as Faculty Services Manager.
2. Progress in recruiting a more diverse student body.
3. Numerous awards received by faculty and students.
4. Continued emphasis on multicultural issues in each course.

II. Major Problems

List and comment upon major problems that exist in your department.

1. Inadequate physical facilities (faculty offices, clinic and expressive arts studio).
2. No increase in faculty travel money despite rising costs.
3. Inadequate budget to meet many needs of the department.
4. Inadequate financial assistance for graduate students.

III. Report on Retention Activities

Please report on retention-related activities as required by Appalachian's Retention Plan.

1. Advising
 - a. All majors in HPC are assigned a specific faculty member to consult with on a regular basis regarding curriculum and career issues.
 - b. Four faculty members serve as program coordinators for the department programs. The coordinators are: Community Counseling– Keith Davis; Professional School Counseling – Laurie Williamson; College Student Development – Cathy Clark; Marriage and Family Therapy – Jon Winek.
 - c. Departmental faculty advises students regarding independent studies; advanced education opportunities (doctorate), thesis preparation, recruitment, etc.
 - d. HPC 2200, Life and Career Planning, is a major factor in the successful adjustment of students to the university and their commitment to staying at the university.
 - e. The department provides assistance in finding employment and/or future education for our students.

2. Non-classroom activities
 - a. A wide variety of external activities by faculty and students were held.
 - b. Several counselor education majors served as graduate assistants and employees in various functions throughout the university campus.
 - c. Student interns were placed in area schools, colleges, universities, and agencies to provide learning experiences for the students involved. This also provided good public relations for the department and university.

3. Student Organizations
 - a. Participation in Chi Sigma Iota, the Counseling Academic and Professional Honor Society.
 - b. Participation in Alpha Epsilon Lambda.
 - c. Participation in Black Faculty and Staff Association.
 - d. Participation in National Graduate School Honor Society.
 - e. Participation in Orchesis, the Expressive Arts Therapy Graduate Honor Society.
 - f. Participation in College Student Development Association.

Appendix A: Unit Mission Statement

In its mission to prepare quality counselors and human development specialists for a variety of agencies, public schools, colleges, and universities, the Department of Human Development and Psychological Counseling at Appalachian State University has responsibility for developing and maintaining undergraduate and graduate curricula and, as such, for providing instruction to students who enroll in courses offered by this department. This includes required and elective courses for departmental degree majors (community counseling, marriage and family therapy, professional school counseling, and college student development); required and elective courses at both the undergraduate and graduate level to fulfill major, minor, and elective requirements for students in and approved by other departments; and courses and experiences for students and practitioners to meet certification, in-service, and other human development and psychological counseling needs.

As an academic unit in the College of Education, the department offers courses, experiences, and expertise in support of the mission as listed above with primary focus on the following:

1. M.A. degree with a major in Community Counseling, preparing persons to serve in a wide variety of settings (rehabilitation centers, business and industry, etc.). Emphases include Addictions Counseling, Marriage and Family Counseling, Expressive Arts Therapy, Body Centered Therapy and Community Counseling General.
2. M.A. degree with a major in Professional School Counseling, preparing persons for certification as School Counselor, K-12. Emphases include Elementary/Middle, and Secondary Schools.
3. M.A. degree with a major in College Student Development, preparing persons to serve in a variety of counseling and other student development functions in post-secondary educational settings. Emphases include College Counseling and Student Affairs Practice.
4. M.A. degree with a major in Marriage and Family Therapy, preparing persons to work with families in a wide variety of settings.
5. Courses/workshops/seminars for practitioners to meet certification, in-service, and other professional needs.
6. Faculty leadership and service in a wide variety of roles within the college and university; to state and regional groups, organizations, and institutions; and to state, regional, and national professional associations.

Appendix B: Equal Opportunity and Diversity

Comment specifically on:

1. Your unit's compliance with the university's Affirmative Action program.

There appears to be no problem with the department's success in the University's Affirmative Action Program.

2. Your unit's progress on each of the Diversity Report recommendations that it is charged with implementing.

Personnel (i.e., recruitment of diverse faculty and students; use of e-mail bulletin boards for advertising positions; developing strategies for enlarging applicant pools; developing relationships with historically black colleges and universities; seeking external funds to increase numbers and maintain under-represented students and faculty). The department is making progress on each of the recommendations as financial support allows.

ANNUAL REPORT ATTACHMENT
DIVERSITY-RELATED ACTIVITIES

Please describe your diversity-related efforts and activities in the following areas:

PERSONNEL

Atkins, Sally

Hired a minority faculty member.

Caldwell, Karen

On faculty search committees, ability to work with diverse populations was a criterion for consideration of candidates.

Davis, Keith

Secured funding for two HPC students to travel to England to present with me on expressive arts therapy.

Ersever, Hakan

I discuss issues related to diversity with other faculty and staff. I do establish professional relationships with other diverse faculty for professional development and insight.

Galvin, Christina

I openly discuss diversity issues with students inside and outside of the classroom. In student supervision I actively assist students in addressing diversity issues with their clients.

Mulgrew, Jack

I am a member of the Ethics Committee and the Nominating Committee of the American Academy of Psychotherapists; we focus on diversity within this professional organization.

Rodriguez, Chris

Volunteer weekly at various community non-profit organizations whose mission is to serve historically underrepresented groups and attend programs in our local community that emphasize individual cultural heritages, e.g The Greek Festival, Cinco de Mayo, Kwanza celebrations, etc.

Scarboro, Barbara

Establishing supportive relationships with some diverse faculty and me creating a climate to process professional related discussions.

Waryold, Diane

Participated in the MLK Day Challenge as a site leader for ACT

Participated in a Day of Service through ACT

Participated in the 20th Year Celebration of ACT

CURRICULUM

Atkins, Sally

All courses taught emphasize issues related to diversity and multiculturalism.

Caldwell, Karen

Presented on nondiscrimination in HPC 5270 Legal and Ethical Issues in Fall 2007.

Taught HPC 5110 Multicultural Counseling in Spring 2008.

Integrated materials on diversity in clinical supervision activities with students in fall and spring individual and group supervision.

Organized HPC 6350 Body/Mind around cross-cultural understanding of healing.

Clark, Cathy

Diversity is a sub topic in all the classes I teach.

Davis, Keith

Each course I teach contains discussions and implications of diversity issues in counseling, consulting, testing, and internship (please see course syllabi). With my Cherokee heritage, diversity issues are integrated throughout my curriculum in teaching courses at ASU.

Ersever, Hakan

I emphasize issues related to diversity in all the courses I teach, and assist students in addressing diversity issues in their personal and professional life.

Evans, Renee

The department focuses on multicultural considerations throughout the program. Therefore, I am very intentional about integrating diversity throughout all of my classes regardless of the topic area.

Galvin, Christina

Throughout my teaching students receive information on diversity issues; they also conduct their own research related to diversity issues.

Lancaster, Jim

Integration of diversity themes into each course; focus on diversity as part of HPC 4840-5840 Human Relations class for undergraduates and graduate students.

Miller, Geri

Included diversity assignments to the following courses:

HPC 5570 Counseling the Addicted Client: readings and reaction papers assigned with minority populations; videos shown on minority alcohol/drug use.

HPC 5220 Counseling Theories : incorporated discussion on diversity through the use of a book written by ethnic minority counseling.

Mulgrew, Jack

I openly discuss diversity issues as they present themselves in my classes.

Rodriguez, Chris

Integrate implications on culture and diverse populations into each course as evidenced in course syllabi; encouraging students to consider the socio-political implications for members of non-dominant, underrepresented and marginalized groups.

Scarboro, Barbara

Multicultural sensitivity and competency as well as professional literature incorporated into all courses to include research, assignments, and discussions. Multicultural Diversity course content developed for doctoral seminar.

Multiple modalities utilized in courses to address the diverse learning needs or styles that might be represented among the students.

Recruited and coordinated guest presenters for courses with diversity and multicultural competency development as the goal.

Waryold, Diane

Continue to teach HPC 5110- Multicultural Counseling w/ Service Learning component.

Winek, Jon

Continued to integrate diversity issues into my instruction

PROFESSIONAL ACTIVITIES

Atkins, Sally

International activities. (See Sections V and XIV C).

Clark, Cathy

Marketing and recruitment targeted to underrepresented populations.

Davis, Keith

I help conduct workshops on traditional Cherokee teachings with the tribe on the Cherokee Reservation in NC.

Evans, Renee

I have been interested in learning more about the Cruzan culture in St. Croix and gaining an understanding about accessibility to resources due to the island's geographical location.

Galvin, Christina

I participated in a presentation on Gay and Lesbian Issues with Dr. Miller and Chi Sigma Iota students (see presentation section). My research agenda includes addressing cultural issues related to spirituality and training students to discuss spiritual issues with clients without imposing their personal spiritual values or bias.

Lancaster, Jim

Teaching diversity issues as part of ethics and integrity presentations at ASJA Academy.

Miller, Geri

Member of ASU Division of Gamma XI (ASU Chapter of Phi Beta Delta, Honor Society for International Scholars)

Rodriguez, Chris

Read seminal and current professional literature on diversity and multicultural competencies as well as attend courses at professional meetings that address issues of diversity, power and discourse.

Scarboro, Barbara

Reading literature relative to working with diverse populations for incorporation into courses.

Recruited and coordinated guest presenters for courses with diversity and multicultural competency development as the goal.

FORMAL OR INFORMAL PROGRAMS

Davis, Keith

Present annually to the ASU Native American Student Association.

Every interaction among people is a diverse interaction. However, my work among my tribe in Cherokee has already been documented throughout this report.
